medical technologies and better drugs, several ailments may be ticked off from the list

Air Marshal said: "There are 10-12 ailments which have already been taken off. Rest are in the pipeline and decision is likely in next 7-10 days". He added that while medical approval has been taken, an administrative approval is awaited and which were earlier considered as a "taboo" for flying.

The IAF had formed a committee comprising spinal surgeons, neurosurgeons, physicians, radiologists and it was concluded that there is no evidence to show these spinal deformities can affect flight safety and physical capability and conditioning of the pilots.

Certain abnormalities like disk degeneration will be taken up on a case-to-case basis, Kapoor said.
